

Dead Heroes Aren't Much Fun

by JD Wiker

I personally don't much like how Dungeons & Dragons handles bringing dead player characters back to life. It might be because my campaign is about playing through the entire Adventure Path series. (That goal is severely hampered if a character is even one level lower than the rest of the party.) But it might revolve more around the fact that a dead PC creates a lengthy discussion that brings the rest of the game to a screeching halt.

This lengthy discussion occurs because a dead character creates an unpleasant dilemma for the character's player: "Should I suck up the level loss and hope I catch up? Or is it more cost effective for me just to create a new character?" I've seen this discussion take place over and over, and the default answer seems to be that it's easier to make up a new character than to play with the "impaired" original character. The worst part about it is that D&D makes no provision for how to replace a dead character. The Player's Handbook and the Dungeon Master's Guide assume that the player will go ahead and play the character who's just returned from the dead—that the player will just go ahead and suck up the level loss. Unfortunately, the rules for coming back from the dead (Player's Handbook Chapter 10, Casting Spells, Special Spell Effects, Bringing Back the Dead) make it pretty clear that the loss of experience is a strong disincentive to stick with even a favorite character. "Earning further experience to regain the lost level" is much more disheartening than the original designer seemed to think.

A dead PC creates a lengthy discussion that brings the rest of the game to a screeching halt.

I got into this discussion with several members of roleplaying game R&D shortly before I left Wizards of the Coast. We didn't really come to a conclusion while I was still there, except that some people thought that the drawback to having a character die was fine the way it was, and others felt that losing a level either was too much of a drawback, or that it created too many questions for a playing group to answer.

Recently, one of my players mentioned to me that the play group is feeling pretty hopeless about their current chances for survival. As I mentioned before, they are currently adventuring in the Heart of Nightfang Spire, by Bruce Cordell—one of the deadliest adventures I've seen since the original Tomb of Horrors. The PC mortality rate is pretty high on this one, and since I don't want my players withdrawing from the campaign simply because they're afraid to carry on, I've come up with rewrites of the three divine spells in the "Resurrection Suite": raise dead, resurrection, and true resurrection.

The core of this house rule is the negative level mechanic. Rather than penalize a character with actual level loss, I figure, why not just let him suffer the effects of temporary level loss? This gets the character back into play quickly, gets the player participating in the game again (which is, after all, why he's there in the first place), and avoids the temptation for the player to ditch his old, "weaker" character for a new, better one. I know that some DMs have a house rule about what level a new character can be (whether it's the character of a new player, or the new character of an existing player)—but I've never seen a variation of that rule that I truly liked.

So here. If you find that you like this alternate rule, feel free to use it in your home games. •

Raise Dead

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 5

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Target: Dead creature touched

Duration: Instantaneous

Saving Throw: None (see text)

Spell Resistance: Yes (harmless)

The cleric restores life to a deceased creature. The cleric can raise creatures who have been dead up to one day per caster level. In addition, the subject's soul must be free and willing to return (see PHB, Chapter 10, Casting Spells, Special Spell Effects, Bringing Back the Dead). If the subject's soul is not willing to return, the spell does not work; therefore, subjects who want to return receive no saving throw. The subject receives one negative level (or suffers 1d4 points of Constitution damage, if she's 1st level) when raised.

Raise dead cures hit point damage up to a total of 1 hit point per Hit Die. Any ability scores damaged to 0 are raised to 1. Normal poisons and normal diseases are cured in the process of raising the subject, but magical diseases and curses are not undone. While the spell closes mortal wounds and repairs lethal damage of most kinds, the body of the creature to be raised must be whole. Otherwise, missing parts are still missing when the creature is brought back to life. None of the dead creature's equipment or possessions are affected in any way by this spell.

A creature who has been turned into an undead creature or killed by a death effect can't be raised by this spell. Constructs, elementals, outsiders, and undead creatures can't be raised. The spell cannot bring back a creature who has died of old age.

Coming back from the dead is an ordeal. The subject of the spell receives one negative level when it is raised, just as if it had lost a level to an energy-draining creature. If the subject is 1st level, it suffers 1d4 points of Constitution damage instead. A negative level can be dispelled by a restoration spell; ability damage can be dispelled by restoration or lesser restoration. A raised character who doesn't receive a restoration or lesser restoration may attempt a Fortitude save (DC 15) once every 24 hours to completely remove the effects of the negative level or Constitution damage.

A character who died with spells prepared has a 50% chance of losing any given spell upon being raised. A spell-casting creature that doesn't prepare spells (such as a sorcerer) has a 50% chance of losing any given unused spell slot as if had been used to cast a spell.

Material Component: A diamond worth at least 500 gp.

Resurrection

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 7

Casting Time: 10 minutes

As raise dead, except you are able to restore life and complete strength to any deceased creature. The condition of the remains is not a factor. So long as some small portion of the creature's body still exists, it can be resurrected, but the portion receiving the spell must have been part of the creature's body at the time of death. (The remains of a creature hit by a disintegrate spell count as a small portion of the body.) The creature can have been dead no longer than 10 years per caster level.

Upon completion of the spell, the creature is immediately restored to full hit points, vigor, and health, with no loss of prepared spells. However the subject receives one negative level (or 1 point of Constitution damage if the subject was 1st level). A negative level can be dispelled by a restoration spell; ability damage can be dispelled by restoration or lesser restoration. A raised character who doesn't receive a restoration or lesser restoration may attempt a Fortitude save (DC 15) once every 24 hours to completely remove the effects of the negative level or Constitution damage.

You can revive someone killed by a death effect or someone who has been turned into an undead creature and then destroyed. You cannot revive someone who has died of old age.

Material Components: A sprinkle of holy water and a diamond worth at least 500 gp.

True Resurrection

Conjuration (Healing)

Level: Clr 9, Healing 9

Components: V, S, M, DF

Casting Time: 10 minutes

As raise dead, except the cleric can resurrect a creature who has been dead up to 10 years per caster level. This spell can even bring back creatures whose bodies have been wholly destroyed, provided you unambiguously identify the deceased in some fashion (reciting the deceased's time and place of birth or death is the most common method).

Upon completion of the spell, the creature is immediately restored to full hit points, vigor, and health, with no negative levels (or Constitution damage) or prepared spells.

You can revive someone killed by a death effect or someone who has been turned into an undead creature and then destroyed.

Even true resurrection can't restore to life a creature who has died of old age.

Material Components: A sprinkle of holy water and a diamond worth at least 5,000 gp. •

The following text is the property of Wizards of the Coast, Inc. and is Copyright 2000 Wizards of the Coast, Inc ("Wizards"). All Rights Reserved.

1. Definitions: (a) "Contributors" means the copyright and/or trademark owners who have contributed Open Game Content; (b) "Derivative Material" means copyrighted material including derivative works and translations (including into other computer languages), potation, modification, correction, addition, extension, upgrade, improvement, compilation, abridgment or other form in which an existing work may be recast, transformed or adapted; (c) "Distribute" means to reproduce, license, rent, lease, sell, broadcast, publicly display, transmit or otherwise distribute; (d) "Open Game Content" means the game mechanic and includes the methods, procedures, processes and routines to the extent such content does not embody the Product Identity and is an enhancement over the prior art and any additional content clearly identified as Open Game Content by the Contributor, and means any work covered by this License, including translations and derivative works under copyright law, but specifically excludes Product Identity. (e) "Product Identity" means product and product line names, logos and identifying marks including trade dress; artifacts; creatures characters; stories, storylines, plots, thematic elements, dialogue, incidents, language, artwork, symbols, designs, depictions, likenesses, formats, poses, concepts, themes and graphic, photographic and other visual or audio representations; names and descriptions of characters, spells, enchantments, personalities, teams, personas, likenesses and special abilities; places, locations, environments, creatures, equipment, magical or supernatural abilities or effects, logos, symbols, or graphic designs; and any other trademark or registered trademark clearly identified as Product identity by the owner of the Product Identity, and which specifically excludes the Open Game Content; (f) "Trademark" means the logos, names, mark, sign, motto, designs that are used by a Contributor to identify itself or its products or the associated products contributed to the Open Game License by the Contributor (g) "Use", "Used" or "Using" means to use, Distribute, copy, edit, format, modify, translate and otherwise create Derivative Material of Open Game Content. (h) "You" or "Your" means the licensee in terms of this agreement.
2. The License: This License applies to any Open Game Content that contains a notice indicating that the Open Game Content may only be Used under and in terms of this License. You must affix such a notice to any Open Game Content that you Use. No terms may be added to or subtracted from this License except as described by the License itself. No other terms or conditions may be applied to any Open Game Content distributed using this License.
3. Offer and Acceptance: By Using the Open Game Content You indicate Your acceptance of the terms of this License.
4. Grant and Consideration: In consideration for agreeing to use this License, the Contributors grant You a perpetual, worldwide, royalty-free, non-exclusive license with the exact terms of this License to Use, the Open Game Content.
5. Representation of Authority to Contribute: If You are contributing original material as Open Game Content, You represent that Your Contributions are Your original creation and/or You have sufficient rights to grant the rights conveyed by this License.
6. Notice of License Copyright: You must update the COPYRIGHT NOTICE portion of this License to include the exact text of the COPYRIGHT NOTICE of any Open Game Content You are copying, modifying or distributing, and You must add the title, the copyright date, and the copyright holder's name to the COPYRIGHT NOTICE of any original Open Game Content you Distribute.
7. Use of Product Identity: You agree not to Use any Product Identity, including as an indication as to compatibility, except as expressly licensed in another, independent Agreement with the owner of each element of that Product Identity. You agree not to indicate compatibility or co-adaptability with any Trademark or Registered Trademark in conjunction with a work containing Open Game Content except as expressly licensed in another, independent Agreement with the owner of such Trademark or Registered Trademark. The use of any Product Identity in Open Game Content does not constitute a challenge to the ownership of that Product Identity. The owner of any Product Identity used in Open Game Content shall retain all rights, title and interest in and to that Product Identity.
8. Identification: If you distribute Open Game Content You must clearly indicate which portions of the work that you are distributing are Open Game Content.
9. Updating the License: Wizards or its designated Agents may publish updated versions of this License. You may use any authorized version of this License to copy, modify and distribute any Open Game Content originally distributed under any version of this License.
10. Copy of this License: You MUST include a copy of this License with every copy of the Open Game Content You Distribute.
11. Use of Contributor Credits: You may not market or advertise the Open Game Content using the name of any Contributor unless You have written permission from the Contributor to do so.
12. Inability to Comply: If it is impossible for You to comply with any of the terms of this License with respect to some or all of the Open Game Content due to statute, judicial order, or governmental regulation then You may not Use any Open Game Material so affected.
13. Termination: This License will terminate automatically if You fail to comply with all terms herein and fail to cure such breach within 30 days of becoming aware of the breach. All sublicenses shall survive the termination of this License.
14. Reformation: If any provision of this License is held to be unenforceable, such provision shall be reformed only to the extent necessary to make it enforceable.

COPYRIGHT NOTICE Dead Heroes Aren't Much Fun ©2002 JD Wiker. All rights reserved unless otherwise noted. Open Game License v 1.0 Copyright 2000, Wizards of the Coast, Inc.

Designation of Open Game Content. The following items are Open Game Content: The new descriptions for raise dead, resurrection, and true resurrection.

Designation of Product Identity. The following items are Product Identity: All images and logos (excluding the d20 System Logo). The Game Mechanics and The Game Mechanics logo are trademarks of The Game Mechanics, Inc.

Designer: JD Wiker.

Graphic Designer: Marc Schmalz