Notes:

I increased his HD to a d8 do he'd feel a bit more comfortable in melee and decided to push one of his saves (I chose Refl, could be Fort if you prefer) up to Average. He picks up a few Bonus Feats and still ends up with a few CBs left over to flesh out his abilities a touch however you prefer.

Just added Bonus Feats to fill the dead levels. He ends up with 2-4 CPs every other level to spend however you'd like, but some of them should likely be used to round out his proficiencies.

Only added a single Bonus Feat at level 18. You can move things around a bit but they fit pretty tightly as is, and you only end up with 1 CP left over at the end. To avoid dead levels you need to spend things a bit differently.

The only way to do this is to push off a number of the early abilities until later, like the Eschew Whatever path. It _does_ balance out by 20th level, but you dip under early on then make up for it later.
