unto the Emperor Alastair and his wife the Empress Kaitlain via the hand of the Emperor Alastair From one of the thirteen

It has come to our attention that a baby human that is the niece of the Empress has survived, and is in the hands of Clan Moulder.

There is nothing that we can do to retrieve the ratling, as any attempt on our part would lead to war between the Great Clans and their lesser allies.

on the other hand we know nothing of any rescue attempt that might be attempted by persons not flying the banner-flag of the Empire of Canberry who might possibly retrieve the child or kill it if preferred.

Attached please find both a crude map and a scent pack to help you identify the location of the Moulder encampment. It is not all that far from the remaining fastness held by the Great Dark Elves of Clan Aragoni on the Island.

Moulder has not dared attempt to alter the child yet, human babies are notoriously weak and brittle, but as he is not walking soon enough they will begin the most delicate of alterations.
