

Report onto the Honored Mouth
From the Privy Secretary

Re: The body of intelligence

As you can see from the attached crude chart – the intelligence service of the Arch-ducal throne is modeled on the humanoid body – with many disparate parts.

The lobes of the brain – The analysis service
The Left eye – Watches for corruption within the Imperial bureaucracy
The Right eye – Watches for corruption within the citizenry
The nose – Command structure for internal Imperial service
The Right ear – Command structure for the embassy watch service
The Left ear – Command structure for the internal noble watch service
The mouth – The Supreme commander of the service – reports up, commands down
The throat of the Empire – Public relations for the IGS (propaganda arm of the throne)
The strong right arm of the Empire – Small elite bands of armed infiltrators, strike teams
The fingers of the Empire – Field gents within the nation of Canberry
The left hand of the Empire – The elite Imperial assassins, unused 3 generations
The wrists of the Empire – Field command structure for field agents within Canberry
The elbows of the Empire – Command structure for field agents within Canberry
The heart of the Empire – Recruiting agency for field agents
The spleen of the Empire – Analysis for reports from religious field agents
The liver of the Empire – Internal affairs
The heart of the Empire – command structure for the Internal service in the capital
The kidneys of the Empire – Training agency for all field agents
The gut of the Empire – Agency financial bureaucracy
The ribs of the Empire – Assigned to Hanal and Masque
The right leg of the Empire – field agents penetrated within other religious hierarchies
The left leg of the Empire – field agents penetrated within the ecclesiarchy
The right foot of the Empire – command structure for the military watch field agents
The hips of the Empire – command structure for traveling field agents
The knees of the Empire – field command structure for traveling field agents
The toes of the Empire – traveling field agents, sometimes established long term
The Naughty Bits of the Empire – This new arm has been initiated in Debonai and Hanal. Field agents are specially trained and report directly to the Mouth through their field commanders

Permanent staffs of toes are maintained in:

The Eastern Trade Federation

The Spicelands

Gates

Debonai (now)

Hanal (now)

No other permanent staffs are maintained - but toes travel as they are needed.