From the Brain

Honored Mouth --

This is a report unto the Honored Mouth from the Brain with full consideration of all fingers, toes, eyes, ears, tongues, elbows, knees, ankles, hipbones, and the kidney. Input from the lips, hearts, dangly bits and livers are not relevant to this report.. (A request, we must recruit more kidneys, we are becoming blocked in the areas related to them and kidney blockage is not good for the body - we need them to filter certain information)

Domestic Report --

Canberry has approached the highest level of security we have perceived in over 2 generations. There is still a band of assassins loose that we have not fully identified and that is responsible for the death of 2 elbows and the discomfort of 3 knees. Other than those and some infiltrators that are now captured and in custody, we are secure as far as can be determined.

Morale is at an extremely high level and at the highest level spreading out of the capital. Many people are referring to us as "blessed" because of the presence of the highborn elder in the city.

External Report --

This is not as sound a report - brace yourself honored mouth.

Our elements in Hanal are being eliminated. We appear to be down to only one hip and that hip may be cut off from fingers by a lack of functional knees. We have considerable concerns regarding this situation.

Fingers in the Crystal city report that the military of the city have recently repulsed an attack involving at least 5 of the Iron Legions. The soldiers who surrendered were shown mercy - although this is difficult for the city as they do not have adequate places to hold nearly 3,000 prisoners.

Several ancient weapons were deployed in the battle by the city - including an ancient man-of-war armed with unusual energy lances. The crew of said ship appeared to be human and half-elves, which is unheard of - but a ship that ancient is unheard of.

Fingers in the Southlands report that the Chaos forces on the ancient Kingdom of the Isles have suddenly become highly active for the first time in two years. We do not know what this portends.
