

Portrait	Name	Race	College	Alignment	Extracurriculars	Job	Bond Boon	Bond Bane	Biography
	Wyn	Changeling	  WITHERBLOOM	Neutral	Arcanix Show Band	Arcanix Stadium groundskeeper	Out of respect for Wyn, fellow campus musicians will cover your expenses for one night per week at places where live music is common.	When there's live music on campus, the lyrics always include rude sentiments directed toward you.	An accomplished musician on several instruments, Wyn is often found at Bow's End Tavern performing beautiful dirges on the hurdy-gurdy for the assembled patrons. Wyn is also a member of the Arcanix Show Band Association, though she believes the music they play lacks the raw emotion of her original compositions. She works as a groundskeeper at the Arcanix Stadium, where she takes great pleasure in using magic to blight undesirable vegetation on the field.
	Mebsa Romhaar	Halfling	  LOREHOLD	Lawful Neutral	Dragonchess Club, Arcane Congress Historical Society	-	Mebsa's commanding presence rubs off, and when you're trying to avoid campus security, your fellow students always help you lie low.	Library books you need inexplicably go missing at key times, especially those about history. As a result, you can't pull all-nighters.	Mebsa is often found poring over ancient texts detailing battles, seeking to better understand the tactical decisions that result in victory and defeat. Mebsa is happy to discuss her knowledge with fellow members of the Arcane Congress Historical Society, often doing so late into the night. Mebsa's opponents at the Dragonchess Club find themselves outmatched time and again by the halflings's technique, though Mebsa is a gracious winner. Mebsa attends all her classes armed and armored, she explains that doing so better simulates the battlefield conditions she studies.
	Daellin Holimion	Elf	  QUANDRIX	Chaotic Good	Distinguished Society of Fine Artists, Live-Action Roleplaying Guild	-	The esteem for Daellin in live-action roleplaying circles extends to you. Guild members will share any information you wish to know about Aberrations, Monstrosities, and Oozes.	You are a pariah in the campus roleplaying scene. The worst monsters are named after you.	Daellin is a jolly soul, and anyone who spends time with him ends up chuckling at whatever nonsense he is currently sporting. He is a passionate member of the Live-Action Roleplaying Guild and loves playing out all sorts of fantastical adventures. He always roleplays archers, entirely because he's recently spent a lot of money on a prop-bow and can't afford anything else. He is also a member of the university's Distinguished Society of Fine Artists, where he uses magic to sculpt beautiful statuary of complex fractal patterns. The fact that he is self-taught makes the quality of his work that much more impressive. Daellin does have some strange eating habits; he sometimes eats an entire jar of pickled onions in a single sitting and then drinks the vinegar.
	Gavrin ir'Trannick	Human	  SILVERQUILL	Neutral	Future Entrepreneurs of Arcanix, Arcanix Star	-	Whenever you want to buy something on campus, a few words from Gavrin get you deals. There's a 25 percent chance your purchase costs half as much.	Gossip columns proclaim exaggerated versions of your worst traits.	Gavrin is the son of Raulo ir'Trannick, lord mayor of Arcanix. To him, studying at Arcanix is a means to an end. Learning business acumen is just as important to Gavrin as his classes, so he has joined the Future Entrepreneurs of Arcanix. Gavrin makes a point to know as much about everyone as possible, gathering information until he finds the best circumstance to use it. Having learned to pick locks, he often accesses places where he's unauthorized, searching for secrets. Gavrin has become a writer for the Arcanix Star, where he's responsible for the gossip column. His writing style is biting, and he uses this platform to expose bullies and mock ignorance. Many of his peers are leery of him, but some have witnessed him paying for poorer students' books and other supplies—a fact he tries to keep secret.

Gerthin Doldarun

Dwarf

Chaotic Good

Arcanix Iron-Lifters Society

Arcanix Stadium equipment assistant

Whenever you need anything heavy moved, members of the Iron-Lifters Society show up to help you.

Heavy things show up in inconvenient places, such as in front of your dorm door.

Gerthin is often heard long before she is seen, as her raucous laughter echoes through the university's halls. Enjoying a reputation as a golden-hearted troublemaker, Gerthin hates studying and grumbles about it at length. This has led to numerous warnings from the librarians for unnecessarily loud behavior, much to Gerthin's amusement.

A fervent member of the Arcanix Iron-Lifters Society, she has already started to break long-held records in both powerlifting and weightlifting. When not training or competing (or occasionally studying), Gerthin spends her time in Bow's End Tavern carousing. As beer isn't free, she helps out at Arcanix Stadium, setting up and putting away heavy equipment. Most people would begrudge the hard labor, but Greta happily does it, reasoning that she is being paid to work out.

Gerthin makes a point to write regularly to her older brother, Greddark, whom she misses terribly.

Levini Alyea

Human

Neutral Good

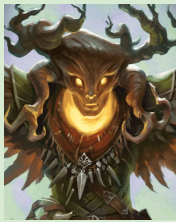

Intramural Water-Dancing Club

Arcanix Performing Arts Society ticket taker

Levini is an expert at creating stylized distractions. If you want to slip away unnoticed from anywhere on campus, Levini or her club members help you escape.

You are offered the worst tickets to performances, if any at all.

Some think Levini is aloof to the point of being rude, but her friends say that nothing is further from the truth. She is a delightful presence and doesn't ignore social obligations so much as get distracted easily. Levini is a member of the Intramural Water-Dancing Club, where she performs underwater balletic movements effortlessly. Despite her swimming ability, her tendency to lose focus means learning group choreography takes her more time and effort. Levini has a natural affinity with animals, especially aquatic species, and she's working on a solo synchronized swimming routine that replaces the other students with a shoal of fish. Rehearsals aren't going well. As an employee of the Arcanix Performing Arts Society, Levini is a ticket taker, a job she's recently switched to as a result of struggling to give correct change while working at the box office.

Thorne

Warforged

Neutral Good

Intramural Silkball Club, Student-Mages of Faith

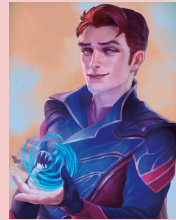

-

Thorne's spirituality centers you. You can calm even the most frazzled of your peers and, if necessary, extract information as needed.

Members of the silkball club and the Student-Mages of Faith refuse to acknowledge your presence.

Towering over most students, Thorne strikes an imposing figure, especially given the branches that grow from their head like antlers. Calm in demeanor, they're often confused by the people rushing around them, as their haste won't lengthen their brief lifespans. Thorne had never been away from their squad before coming to Arcanix and has found the transition to university life difficult. However, since they joined the Intramural Silkball Club, this close-knit surrogate family has helped him deal with his loneliness.

They are also a member of the Student-Mages of Faith. They enjoy helping their fellow students celebrate their high holidays and discussing theology and spirituality. For them, the natural world and all living beings form a vast consciousness across all planes of existence, transcending the power and reach of any one deity.

Killian Mantanye

Human

Neutral

Dead Languages Society, Playactors Drama Guild

-

You have adopted Killian's authoritative voice, and in dire situations, your peers obey you when you issue commands.

Whenever you perform as part of a production, a small crowd shows up and boos you specifically.

Killian approaches all his endeavors with the utmost seriousness. He believes one should either do something correctly or not at all. Killian is a member of the university's Playactors Drama Guild, where his dedication to what he calls "the craft" is absolute. He looks down on other actors who are slow to memorize lines or who miss cues. Backstage crew members fare better, as Killian regards them as crucial and often brings them and the director flowers or notes of thanks. While Killian is a powerful presence on stage—especially in romantic roles—critics have called his performances histrionic. To better perform his future roles in ancient plays, Killian has joined the Dead Languages Society. He plans to perform his roles in the plays' original languages, regardless of whether the rest of the production is translated.

Hsaiou

Owlin

Chaotic Good

Live-Action Roleplaying Guild

Intramural Fields referee

Hsaiou's energy is contagious. Whenever you travel any significant distance, you can reach your destination in half the normal time.

Whenever you participate in sports on campus (except for big events, such as the Battle of Arcanix), fouls are constantly called on you.

Hsaiou speaks quickly and with so much energy that it often takes a moment to recover from a conversation with him. He moves far faster than one would expect; it's unclear whether this is due to magic, an eldritch contraption, or just the laws of physics bending to Hsaiou's force of personality.

Hsaiou referees silkball and takes fair play very seriously. Woe betide any participant who feels the wrath of his whistle. Hsaiou is also an enthusiastic participant in Arcanix's Live-Action Roleplaying Guild. He insists on roleplaying only 'monsters' and delights in chasing down participants to "eat" them. Many a participant has heard giggling approaching them at high speed before their character's death.

Jahanah Lerendazi

Human

Lawful Neutral

Playactors Drama Guild,
Arcanix Show Band Association

-

Jahanah's gravitas has rubbed off, and you can easily command an entire room's attention. They hear your words favorably if you wish.

Whenever any band performs in public, its members stop and shake their heads in disapproval when they see you.

When Jahanah walks into a room, people take notice. A measured performer with gravitas beyond her years, Jahanah is a valued member of the Playactors Drama Guild who can handle weightier roles that more melodramatic actors can't. This has caused friction within the guild as members vie for parts. Jahanah's stage presence extends to delivering presentations in class. When she orates, one can almost imagine a hardened general marshaling her bloodied and exhausted troops for a final push against a far superior foe.

Jahanah is part of the Arcanix Show Band Association and has moved from playing to conducting. No previous student conductor has demanded and received such unwavering respect as Jahanah. With merely a look and a raised eyebrow, she can quiet even the most raucous orchestra sections.

Saralyssa Lin Lonadar

Gnome

Lawful Good

Student-Mages of Faith

Campus Grounds graffiti eraser

If you quickly need the help of your peers, they drop everything to assist you as a favor to Saralyssa.

Graffiti making rude allusions to you keeps appearing on campus, and it takes days to get cleaned.

Her peers are often surprised when they learn Saralyssa is interested in joining Silverquill College, since its members sometimes earn a reputation as abrasive. Saralyssa, on the other hand, exhibits an air of absolute serenity. Anything that might frustrate or delight another student, whether it's a poor test score or success at a competition, elicits little outward response from Saralyssa. A deep thinker, Saralyssa is rarely surprised by such an outcome, and she enjoys being a centering presence for her peers.

Also a member of the Student-Mages of Faith, Saralyssa is happy to talk about her appreciation of deities who are devoted to service and community. Many of her peers think she is destined to hold high rank in a temple.

Saralyssa works on the campus grounds to erase graffiti, wearing a content smile on her face.

Thradi Kendig

Human

Neutral Good

Dragonchess Club,
Intramural Silkball Club

-

Thradi loves helping analyze problems. When you go to her for advice, she suggests a helpful solution that you hadn't considered.

The faculty don't trust you or help you much, for rumor has it that Thradi has found you wanting.

Thradi's poised demeanor and steady gaze are remarkable. An excellent judge of character, she doesn't associate with those she deems mean-spirited. Her exacting judgment has led her to join the Dragonchess Club, and while she is still honing her skill at the game itself, she compensates by reading her opponent instead of the board. Many a foe has struggled to sit in silence as she gives them her full attention, probing for weaknesses, the pieces seemingly incidental.

Surprising to some, Thradi has also joined the Intramural Silkball Club. During matches, she focuses on trying to understand and preempt the opposing sides' strategies. More than once she has suggested new plays mid-game that have caught the opposing team off guard. The faculty at Arcanix are convinced that, if she wished, one day Tilana would make an excellent professor.

Thariv d'Lyrandar

Half-Elf

Chaotic Good

Intramurals Gymnastics Club,
Mage Tower Cheer Squad

-

You enjoy a high social rank as a result of your association with Thariv. Most of your peers fall all over themselves to do you favors.

No one on campus invites you to parties or events, although your friends receive invitations.

One of the most popular students on campus, Thariv is a member of the Mage Tower Cheer Squad, and his exceptional athleticism has earned him the position as the squad's primary flyer. As such, Thariv is launched into the air in elaborate cheering routines, much to the crowd's delight.

Thariv has also joined the Intramural Gymnastics Club. Here he completes at rhythmic gymnastics in both ribbon as well as hoop. To further test himself and impress the judges, Thariv conducts his routines to a vast array of different musical styles and arrangements. When traveling around campus between classes, he shouts random affirmations of school spirit to everyone at large. Despite his peppy nature, Thariv is genuinely encouraging and in no way acts superior. If anything, he seems somewhat oblivious to his own popularity at Arcanix.

PORTRAIT	NAME	RACE	COLLEGE	ALIGNMENT	EXTRACURRICULARS	JOB	BOND BOON	BOND BANE	BIOGRAPHY
	Demodir Yanger	Shifter	  QUANDRIX	Neutral Good	Dead Languages Society	Biblioplex book clerk	Demodir writes you poetry, and the smile it puts on your face makes you likable to everyone on campus except the most stone-hearted.	Other students who work in the Biblioplex refuse to help you find any of the tomes you seek. Even the reference librarians are more cryptic.	Demodir is so soft-spoken that many of his peers must ask him to speak up to be understood. He is nearly seven feet tall, yet he continuously stoops, as if trying to occupy as little space as possible. Several activities and clubs that involve feats of strength and size continuously try to recruit him—to no avail. Demodir prefers spending his time in the Biblioplex, where he works as a book clerk, assisting students in finding required texts and shelving returns. He moves silently through the stacks, and he has given more than one student a scare when they've turned around to suddenly find him there. Demodir's greatest love is poetry. As a member of the university's Dead Languages Society, he scours ancient literature for stirring poems written in old tongues, reading them to the rest of the group in a soft, resonant voice that comes directly from his soul.
	Illian Sil Santiar	Gnome	  LOREHOLD	Neutral Good	Intramural Silkball Club	Bow's End Tavern assistant manager	Illian's reputation as a tough guy follows you. If peers would be aggressive toward you, they quickly back down.	The servers at Bow's End Tavern know you are no friend to Illian. At the slightest sign of trouble, they blame you and ask you to leave.	Illian is an imposing, square-jawed gnome who looks permanently scruffy despite his best efforts. Contributing to his dishevelment are tufts of hair that refuse to smooth down, a handful of scars whose origin he's not sure of, and at least one hole in whatever clothing he's wearing. Contrary to what people initially assume, Illian is a friendly sort. To make ends meet, he works at Bow's End Tavern, managing servers and keeping the peace, relying on his rough appearance to dissuade those intent on making trouble. When not attending classes, Illian is an intimidating presence at the Intramural Silkball Club, where few people want to see him barreling toward them. He wishes more people would take the effort to get to know him, rather than be put off by his gruff exterior.
	Minshana	Kalashtar	  SILVERQUILL	Lawful Good	Arcanix Star	Firejolt Café server	Minshana loves sharing her vast repository of knowledge with you. If you seek obscure information that's not secret, Mina researches it and reports her findings within a week.	Firejolt Café never has the ingredients in stock for the beverages you initially order, even if it's a common drink.	Minshana's greatest love is the use of language; she adores how subtle differences in intonation and vocabulary can shape one's perception of reality. Her fascination with language extends to spells and verbal components. After graduation, she plans to conduct research on the variance of language in spells and how one might tweak verbal components that the greater magical community considers immutable. Minshana's love of language and nuance has led her to join the Arcanix Star as an investigative journalist. Here, she reveals truth, corrects misconceptions, and combats injustice. She has also taken a job as a server at Firejolt Café, which not only provides some cash but also puts her in a position to overhear snippets of conversation that might provide leads for her journalistic investigations.
	Norah Bateu	Human	  PRISMARI	Neutral Good	Distinguished Society of Fine Artists	Dormitories resident assistant	The faculty's respect for Norah extends to you. You can expect straightforward answers when you ask a faculty member for basic information.	Few faculty care to help you with basic requests.	Rarely without a smile on her face, Norah is a kind person who is generous with her time and attention. This has led her to gain employment within the university's dormitories, where she acts as a resident assistant. Norah offers confidential support to any student and is especially passionate about counseling other transgender students. She thoughtfully handles concerns ranging from students' homesickness to matters that require her to act as an advocate for another student. Norah is a passionate member of the Distinguished Society of Fine Artists. As such, she spends hours on the potter's wheel throwing clay. Despite her enthusiasm, her technical skill is lacking. Her tutors, in attempts to be encouraging, often describe Norah's work as rustic or naive. Undeterred, Norah continues to produce terrible mug after terrible mug, which she gives as gifts to her friends.
	Timmok Gerlach	Half-Orc	  WITHERBLOOM	Neutral	Fantastical Horticulture Club	Campus Magic Labs specimen preparer	No matter the subject, you can always find a partner to study with, whether it's Timmok or a classmate doing him a favor.	No one on campus who isn't another player character will study with you. If you ask, most shrug decline, saying you'll probably fail.	First to class, last to leave, and always asking for additional homework, Timmok is a meticulous student. Despite his consistently high marks, Timmok makes no attempt to show off, although his studies seem rudimentary to him. Rumor has it that he is completing enough credits to earn multiple degrees when he graduates. Timmok works for the Campus Magic Labs as a specimen preparer. This additional access to the labs also allows him to run his personal experiments in peace. Unsurprisingly, he is also a member of the Fantastical Horticulture Club. There, he looks to develop new species of plants that might yield new ingredients for potions. Timmok makes it clear he wants everyone to use his full first name. Should anyone use a nickname, he won't acknowledge the address.