

Unto the Imperial Privy Council and its members; and unto His Imperial Majesty, Alastair, Archduke of Canberry, King of the Southlands and sovereign of his other territories under the Light of Glor'diadel

From: Count Clarence Soaringspire

It has come to the attention of a prized adviser to the House of Soaringspire that you have interest in producing vollers of high quality and stability. He has asked me to send this letter of introduction on his behalf and has taken to our townhouse in Canberry City to await your reply.

I assure you that Sir Caleoglas Mal'quenwe has served the County well these 200 years and has never given any cause for our concern.

He is an expert in the working of the various glasses and has experience with Voller design as well. It is these skills and that knowledge that he brings to the table.

He is his own man, and while we have treasured his advice and support, we can but heartily back any effort of his to further his own interests, particularly when they stand to benefit the Empire as a whole.

I remain yours.
